The 1960 Wigwam

Next fall Warrenites will move into a new building of 225 classrooms, including shops, darkroom, labs, and other special facilities.

This then, will be the last year Old Warren is used as a high school. The traditional early walks around the library will not be moved to the new school, and the bottleneck in traffic by Room 16 will be eliminated.

No matter how wonderful New Warren is, Old Warren High cannot be forgotten. The time you spent sleeping in study hall, running to [illegible] and eating in the "quiet" cafeteria will remain as clear in your memory as the big Christmas dance or the "Yea, rah, Warren!" at the county tourney.

The 1960 Wigwam is your key to Old Warren High.

Dedication

To students, faculty, and administrators, who held the key to "Old Warren," we dedicate this book. Although the physical properties of the building were important, the spirit of the people gave the building life.

Warrenites opened the day with meditation in an effort to create a pleasant Christian atmosphere for learning. The faculty and administration spent many extra hours planning the curriculum and guiding Warrenites toward graduation and their life after high school.

From the first kick-off of the football season, the social events of which we all were a part, the crowning of our annual homecoming queens, through the tournaments, to "Senior Day," and last but not least to graduation, "Old Warren's" school spirit was maintained.

The next school year will have a new setting, but most of the people, the learning and the fun will remain the same.

The move from building to building will be physical, but all the spiritual qualities of "Old Warren" will be transferred to the new building by you, the student body and faculty of Warren Central High School.

Edward H. Cuddy

Principal
Warren Central High School

To the Class of 1960:

I am very happy to have this opportunity to congratulate you, the members of the 1960 graduating class of Warren Central High School, upon the successful completion of your work here. If we have done our task properly, you will know that what you have learned in the classroom and in our school community is only the beginning of a process of growth which will continue for the rest of your lives.

We hope that your years at Warren Central have opened new vistas of understanding to you and that you will depart with a better knowledge of yourself, of other human beings, and of the world in which you live; that you will have acquired a sense of your place in the great stream of history; and that you will have developed new and strong inner spiritual resources to guide and nourish you in the years ahead.

On the gate that leads into Harvard Yard, on the Harvard University Campus, there is inscribed, as one enters from the street, this invitation: "Enter to grow in wisdom." On the same gate, seen as one leaves the Yard to enter the busy world outside, are carved these words: "Depart better to serve thy country, and thy kind." We hope you have grown in wisdom at Warren Central and that what you have learned here will enable you to serve your school, your country, and your fellow man.

My very best wishes for the future to each and everyone of you.

Edward H. Cuddy

Angora of all colors, and tape of all sizes and shapes are used by the gals to decorate and reduce the size of their steadies' rings.

Fads and Fashions

Long hair, popular with the fairer sex, is worn in a roll by Rita Parker. Her coke date, Tom Umbanhowar, sports the Hollywood burr.

Wherever teenagers are found are bound to be the fads and the popular fashions of the day, and Warrenites are no exception.

The newest change in fashion is found shoe-wise. "Boots" of all styles and colors were seen for the first time, and tennis shoes were sported by both the guys and gals. Carcoats, pegged pants, Como sweaters, blazers and steady shirts still retained their positions in the fashion spotlight.

Many of these fads and fashions will be seen in years to come. Some will fade away to be forgotten with time, but Warrenites will remember them as the fashions of "1960."

Gordan Willits displays the flat-top while he jokingly pulls the ponytail of his steady, Joyce Maupin.

Sonny Luther, modeling the burr, playfully takes the scissors to Shermana Barnett's fluff.

Connie Minnick and Jani Ernsberger represented Warren on the Ayres' and Block's High School Fashions Boards respectively. The girls spent their extra time gathering the latest fashion news, modeling and learning how a large department store is run.

Talking over the latest sports results before going to class, Sonny Cook, Ted Steinkamp, and Ray Veerkamp sport the latest styles in fashions.

Reign Over School Activities

Many styles of shoes came into the fashion spotlight this year. From left to right the different styles are squash heels, boots, tennis shoes, T-straps and stocking boots.

Holidays Bring Mistletoe Magic

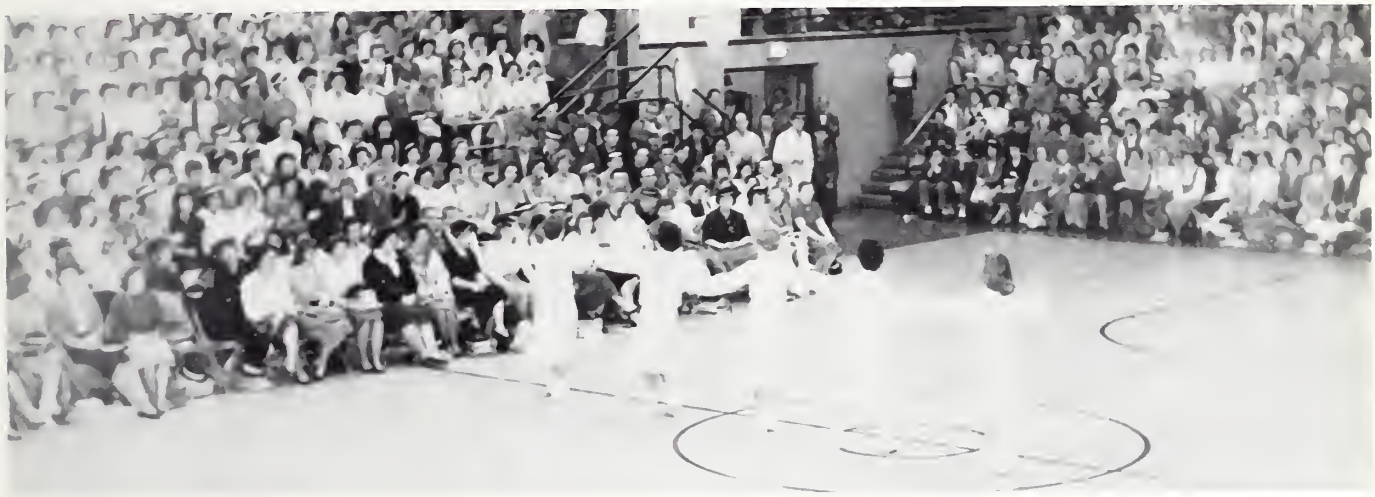
Pretty party dresses, silver bells, and dreamy music contributed to the atmosphere of the annual Mistletoe Magic Dance sponsored by Tri-Hi-Y, Warrenettes, Alpha Hi-Y, and Beta Hi-Y.

Miss Mistletoe, Alice Eaton; and Mr. Magic, Bill Vandercook; congratulated each other as they danced to the music of Vic Knight.

The theme chosen by the art department for the traditional Mistletoe Magic Christmas Dance was "Silver Bells." As the main center of attraction, a silver bell was hung in the center of the room. The bell was covered with mirrors that glittered on the floor, and it was topped off with mistletoe.

Candidates for king and queen were chosen from the government classes. Members of the court of Queen Alice Eaton and King Bill Vandercook were Joyce Clark, Marilyn Davis, Carol Fredericks, Sandy Hoffert, Dean Jung, Dave Lawrence, Bob Legan and Earl Wall.

Students Strive to Boost Their Team



"Good luck, team, good luck!" resounded through the gym at the pre-tourney pep session, and the basketball fever increased as the big game approached. Warrenites dutifully bought their derbies and then transformed them into great works of art.

Derby hats were sold by the Industrial Arts Club sponsored by Gene Crosier. Modeling their wares are Dick Snodgrass, Charlie Starr, Bill Vandercook and Jerry Wilson.

As the County Tourney approached, a definite air of anticipation ran through the halls of WCHS. Tourney time meant pep sessions, decorated cars, the elation of winning and the heartbreak of losing.

Derbies were sold; girls' and boys' pepblocks worked diligently on new yells, and the cheerleaders, along with the team and Coach Reed, kept school spirits high.

Life returned to normal after tourney time, but not for long — sectional hysteria was just around the corner.

Going to the "big game" in a black and gold decorated car were several enthusiastic seniors. Often the preparation before the game seemed more exciting than the actual battle on the hardwood. Exhausted students dragged to school the following Monday with baggy eyes and squeaky voices.

Activities Guided Athletic Talents

During the half-time show of the homecoming basketball game between Pike and Warren the tumbling squad performed their various feats for the spectators. These boys climaxed the performance by a pyramid.

Senior boys earning the required number of points in varsity sports are awarded a seven-inch gold "W's" which they sport on white sweaters. Admiring the sweater worn by Rolland Beckham are Alice Eaton and Linda Foltz; all are seniors.

Somersaults, flips, jumps and rolls highlighted the half-time program at several Warren basketball games this season. The Boys' Tumbling Squad, under the direction of Vaughn Wood, athletic director, performed mat routines, climaxing in a pyramid composed of six boys. Freshman physical education girls presented a drill team at the homecoming basketball game with Pike, February 12.

Senior boys earning the required number of points in varsity sports are awarded seven-inch gold "W's." Attitude, service, and achievement are all considered as a basis for awarding the letters.

Reserve monograms or gold "WC'S." are also awarded. Boys earning varsity or reserve letters are eligible to join the Letterman's Club under the direction of Mr. Wood.

Even though the teenage girl is noted for being a rather selfish creature, on February 14 feminine Warrenites expressed emotions they had felt all year. At the Annual Mother and Daughter Valentine Tea, girls honored their mothers and tried to show their appreciation for the other days of understanding and attention.

Dressed in their Sunday best, sophomore, junior and senior girls escorted their mothers through the receiving line and then watched with them a program titled "Melody in Fashions."

Following the program, tea and tiny sandwiches were served in the cafeteria. As the afternoon drew to a close, daughters helped their mothers with their wraps and the two went home with a new understanding and closer relationship.

Tea, cookies and sandwiches graced the lovely tables at the tea. The food was prepared by the girls' home economics classes.

Annual Valentine Tea Honored Mother

Priscilla Dick, Diana Marvel, Pat Perdue, Nancy Waterman, Sharon Yoho, and Judy Taylor appear on stage for the grand finale of the fashion show sponsored by H. P. Wasson & Company.

Hard Work

Ed Wilson, Linda Fye, Jeannette Miller, and Sue Preston trudged off to Indiana University last July and August loaded down with books, typewriters, radios, and enough clothes and cookies to last for two weeks. Ed went to the newspaper division of the Indiana University High School Journalism Institute while the girls worked in the yearbook division.

Dave Lawrence and Steve Boyce represented Warren at Boys' State, and Marylou Beese and Jani Ernsberger were the Girls' State representatives.

The purpose of Hoosier Boys' State and Girls' State, sponsored by the American Legion, is to educate Indiana's young men and women in the duties and responsibilities of American citizenship.

In the mock elections, Jani received the Nationalist nomination for Secretary of State. Marylou was elected County Coroner, and both Dave and Steve were candidates for mayor.

The Indianapolis Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution annually name one senior girl as Good Citizen. Kay Klein was selected for this honor on the basis of dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism. Kay will receive a Certificate of Award from the National Society of the D.A.R. and will compete in the state and national contests.

Brought Rewards

Von Hayes, agriculture teacher, looks on as Jim St. Clair and Howard Poole receive State Fair awards from Russ Cole. Jim and Howard were state winners with their demonstration, "A Good Rat is a Dead Rat." Howard received a trip to Washington D.C., and to the United Nations in New York City.

Seniors Jennie LeFeber and Ron Healey placed first in the State Solo and Ensemble Contest. Jennie placed first in the vocal division with a soprano solo and Ron in the instrumental division with a trumpet solo.

With the sound of a gavel the ninth annual Model United Nations was in session in March. Sponsored by the Hi-Y Clubs in co-operation with the Y.M.C.A., the Model U. N. was composed of delegates from most high schools in Indianapolis. Ron Finkbiner, Jim Coffin, Carol Linneman and Tom Jackson learned much about international problems and the necessity of working together.

77 Wigwam Strip Highlights Convos

Calm your choppers, Sis!

Lend me your ears, oh hep-cats.

Man, Like Wow!

This group's like . . . swingin', man!

Penny McIntosh is "fly-in' high" at one of the basketball pep sessions.

Leighton Ford, member of the Billy Graham Crusade, chats with Mrs. Ozella Schlosser following his successful convocation.

The Schmidts, a talented tumbling team, load their equipment for another engagement after finishing their show at Warren.

And Plays Provided Varied Entertainment

One of the most entertaining convocations which was presented at Warren this year featured the Vocal-Aires. They are from left to right: June Griffin, June Bosley, Roy Lockett and Henry Finnley.

From the swinging beatniks of the WIGWAM skit to the scientific minds of the atomic energy demonstration, Warren's convocations added much variety to the eight-hour day.

"Falling Leaves," "Misty," and other selections were on the program for Roy Lockett and The Vocal Aires as they traveled coast to coast, performing for various schools.

Showing physical and mental strength Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt gave a gymnastics performance.

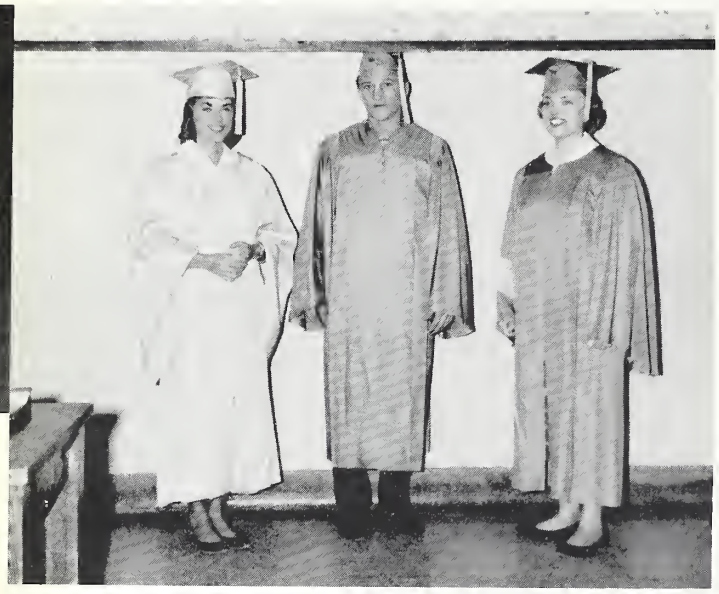
On the more serious side, Thanksgiving and Christmas convocations brought religious inspiration to the environment.

Giving Warrenites pointers on how to live a happier life, Leighton Ford, brother-in-law of Rev. Billy Graham, addressed an all-school assembly in November.

Convos became more than a half hour out of class this year. They brought education to the students in many enjoyable ways.

No one really realizes that the work done behind the scenes is just as important as that of the cast. Here Janet Behrman applied make-up to Dan Edwards for "The Family that Nobody Wanted," given by the Dramatics Club. Jan Taylor watched approvingly.

Our Senior Days



Steve Horsely, senior class president; Priscilla Dick, and Sharon Sohn, members of the senior council, model the "1960" graduation caps and gowns.

As graduation day neared, the Class of 1960 began recalling the many good times that had been "crammed" into a wonderful four years. Proms, parties and picnics highlighted many memories. Others remembered thrilling basketball games, finals, steadies, and a fabulous senior week — but all looked forward to the two biggest nights of the year — the Senior Prom and graduation.

For many, the thought of graduation meant entering colleges and universities, the beginning of a brand new way of life while for others it meant entering the business world, acting independently.

Graduation was an impressive sight as the seniors in their caps and gowns of blue and gray filed in procession to receive their long-awaited diplomas.

As each of the last graduates of "Old Warren High" received his diploma, visions of ivy-covered walls and the picturesque setting of the campus were imprinted in his memory.

Each senior remembered the happiness that he had known, and hoped that future graduates would share the same fond memories.

William E. Glesing, social studies chairman and senior class sponsor, was kept busy counseling seniors and prospective college students. Mr. Glesing has gained the respect of the seniors through his willingness and ability to counsel and assist them.

Brought Joy, Sorrow, Hopes, Regrets

Before Christmas vacation a few groups of fun-loving Seniors gave parties to celebrate the approaching holiday. Tables were reserved in the cafeteria, candles were lighted, and fun was had by all.

Bobby Jo Emrich watches to make sure Alice Eaton gets her wish by blowing out all the candles on her surprise birthday cake.

Senior Joyce Clark keeps alive the old tradition by paying for her last lunch with pennies.

Seniors Bob Legan, Kenny McCubbins, Jim Coffin, and Jack Wininger, wearing their senior cords, stop to talk over the latest happenings.

Service, Fun, Work Enjoyed By Boys

ALPHA HI-Y OFFICERS — who served in 1959-60 were Steve Bless, president; Steve Horsley, vice president; Dave Lawrence, chaplain; Mike Hoskins, treasurer; Dean Jung, secretary; and Ron Brewer, sergeant-at-arms.

The Alpha Hi-Y, an organization for junior and senior boys, is a national club promoting higher ideals and stressing a good Christian life.

A project which the Hi-Y has had for several years is the Mile of Dimes campaign. This year the club received $98 which they used to clothe two children. Thirty dollars was donated to the new March of Dimes.

Along with their sponsor, Alfred Cocks, the club works with the school in the planning and carrying out of many activities.

Beta Hi-Y is a state organization, connected with the Indianapolis and state Y.M.C.A.

As a service club, it aided the school in the religious programs. The group co-sponsored the Fall Fantasy dance and the Mistletoe Magic dance at Christmas as social outlets.

One of the Beta's projects was the collection of canned goods to give to needy families at Christmas time.

The Beta Hi-Y is concerned with producing higher standards and ideals in the home and church.

BETA HI-Y — chose Vic Clevenger, president. Other officers were Harold McIntyre, vice-president; Harold Apple, secretary; and Tom Falconberry, treasurer.

Hi-Y Adds Variety To Service Clubs

Tri-Hi-Y officers, Priscilla Dick, treasurer; Jo Sams, vice-president; Susie Preston, president; and Jani Ernsberger, secretary; put final touches on the table in preparation for the annual Mother and Daughter's Tea.

Sophomore girls composing Warrenette officers are Sara Yotter and Mary Ellen Ferverda, sergeants-at-arms; Sandy Cazzell, program chairman; Marsha Alexander, chaplain; Nancy Neal, treasurer; Linda Loman, secretary; and Gloria Sherban, president.

Assuming responsibilities of the Freshette Club are Susan Fink, president; Margaret Lewis, vice-president; Mary Ann Filler, secretary; and Paula Brown, treasurer.

With similiar goals and ideals, the Tri-Hi-Y, Warrenettes, and Freshettes promote school activities while striving for character development of each individual member.

Among their activities was the Annual Mother and Daughter Tea, sponsored by the Tri-Hi-Y and Warrenettes.

Replacing National Beta for junior and senior girls was the Tri-Hi-Y club which is closely associated with the Eastside Y.M.C.A. This year the club with the Warrenettes sponsored the annual Fall and Christmas Dances and also sent representatives to the Model United Nations.

The Freshettes serve their school through such projects as the annual freshman mixer.

Student Council Guides School Life

Officers for Student Council this year are: Paul Settles, parliamentarian; Marlene Settles, secretary; Steve Boyce, president; Sandy Martin, vice-president; Jack Stiefel, treasurer.

A growing school has growing interest, and in 1960 the Warren pupils' interests widened to include not only academics but many phases of social life.

Democracy and leadership also played a very important part in the everyday life of each Warrenite. Through the Student Council, individuals were enabled to express ideas and opinions.

This group sponsored sock hops, dances, convocations, the Courtesy Campaign, Clothe-a-Child, and the important elections of queens and cheerleaders.

Through this representative body, under the direction of Mrs. Maude Siebert and Obert Piety, the administration gave students a chance to take an active part in their school.

Councils Promote Class Activities

Junior Council members displaying one of their annual fruit-cake projects are: (seated) Sandy Cole, Harriet Fitch, secretary; Judy Johnson, treasurer; Bill Southern, president; Tom Jackson, vice-president; Jim Weber, Pat Owen, Leigh Ann Hettenvan; (standing) Connie Schroeder, Jeff Perkins, Stan Martin, Marilyn Holmes, Melvin Roschelle, Bill Boothe, Ron Althardt, Steve Roesner, Mike Wray, Karen McCullough, Sheran Koetje, Nancy Applegate and Susan Faires.

Honorary Pupils Enjoy Planning, Fun

From cider and donuts in the fall to ribbon sales at Chtistmas, the Senior Honor Society added sums to their treasury. Besides selling campaigns, the senior group sponsored several skating parties with the aid of the History Club and Junior Honor Society. A "Sweatshirt Swing" was the most successful of the activities.

With these profits both honor societies gave one scholarship to a senior member and another to a nonmember.

Governing and supervising the activities was Leon Thompson, sponsor, and with the aid of the officers: Stanley Binnie, president; Kay Klein, vice-president; Jeannette Miller, secretary; and Sue Preston, treasuter, other ideals were achieved.

"Dill pickles, dill pickles and more dill pickles!" groaned Junior Honor Society members as they sold at two home football games. Working jointly with the Senior Honor Society the Juniot group had a number of skating parties.

With the guidance of Vic Clevenger, president, and other officers: Lyn Strane, vice-president; Carol Cooper, secretary; and Milton Fowler, tteasurer, other activities were experienced.

Under the direction of Mrs. Vera Petterson, the Junior Honor Society strived for new goals.

Promoting Christian acceptance and better church attendance were main functions of the Hi-C Bible club officers, Larry Guire, president; Jack Stiefel, vice-president; Sandy Elliot, treasurer; Marijo Barnett, visitation chairman; and Marlene Settles, secretary.

Warren Boasts World's Largest Hi-C

The Hi-C Bible Club was organized several years ago. Many students believed that there should be more emphasis on religion in general.

The Hi-C, sponsored by Mrs. Ozella Schlosser and Mrs. Nancy Wright, is the largest club of its kind in the United States with 750 members.

Becoming a tradition at Warren is the morning devotional program which was the major project of Hi-C. Each morning students opened the school day by bowing their heads in meditation. Music and Scripture reading were a vital part of the program.

Warren's club also had a committee which visited old peoples' homes. In these and other ways, Hi-C added to the spiritual atmosphere of Warren.

Larry Guire and Marlene Settles prepare to give daily devotions as Jim Boyce provides the accompaniment for the daily service.

Leading the Junior Red Cross were Harriett Fitch, vice-president; Janet McWhinney, secretary; Kay Cuddy, treasurer; and Gary Allen, president. These officers are inspecting a party box which was made by members of the club. This box and others like it were sent to children's wards of various hospitals around the city.

Service Projects Objective of Clubs

OFFICERS FOR THE FUTURE NURSES OF AMERICA were Suzanne Smith, secretary; Stephany Takala, treasurer; Janet Sykes, vice-president; and Elizabeth Davis, president.

4-H JUNIOR LEADERS OFFICERS were Nancy Karrer, president; Gwynne Bujarsky, vice-president; and Joan McClaren, secretary-treasurer.

Industrial Club officers for the 1959-60 year were sergeant-at-arms, Bill Vandercook; secretary-treasurer, Jerry Wilson; vice-president, Dick Snodgass; and president, Steve Steele.

Shop Club Assists With Play Props

Discussing plans for their future plays are the Drama Club officers Jennie LeFeber, president; Janice Croucher, vice-president; Susan Douglas, secretary; and Kay Cuddy, treasurer.

Craftsmanship and interest in industry are purposes of the Industrial Arts Club. The group also serves to acquaint the members with employers' needs and thoughts.

This year the organization sold derbies for the county tourney and sectionals. The money received was used to build a special project which was donated to the school at the end of the year.

Club members worked closely with Dramatic Club people building sets and handling scenery.

"Lights out, curtain up!" The long hours of rehearsing were over and opening night for the Drama Club's play had arrived.

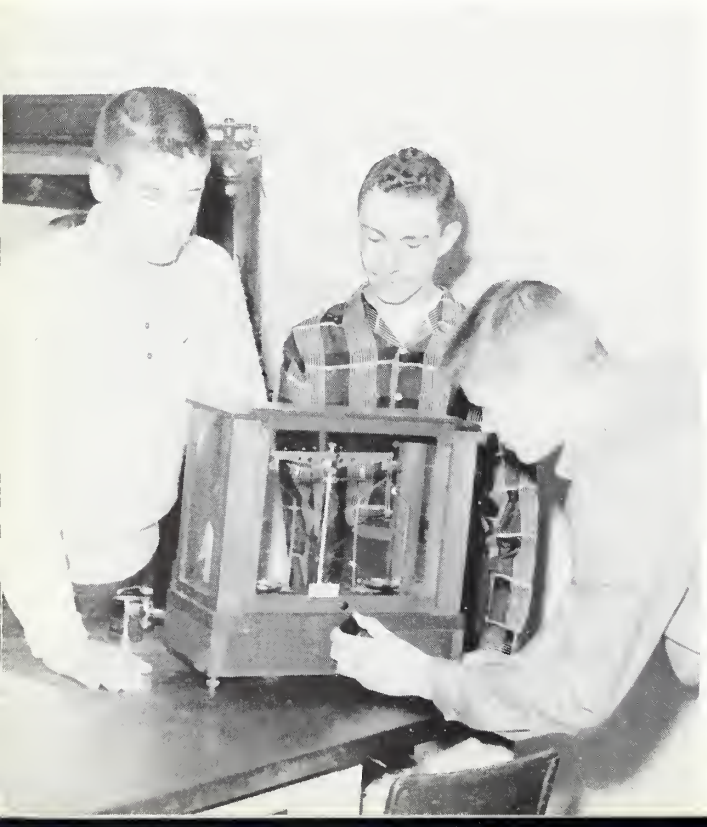
For the first time the club presented an all-school play, "The Family Nobody Wanted." A Christmas play, "The Gift of the Magi," was also given.

This club presented opportunities for the students to act, direct, and participate in the work of producing a play.

David Disbennett, president of the Math Club, explains a problem from the club magazine, "Mathematics Log," to Stan Binnie, vice-president; and Judy Marchick, secretary; The magazine is composed of problems sent in by various high schools in the United States.

Math, Science Clubs Interest Many

Steve Hill, president; Frank Rush, secretary-treasurer: and Jack Chaney, vice-president worked with other members of the Science Club during the year.



Atomic energy, nuclear fission, were among important topics discussed at meetings of the Math Club's sister organization, the new Science Club.

One of the major projects for Max Miese, sponsor, and the members was the writing and adopting of the club's constitution.

Goals were set high for the members of this club. Besides emphasizing the importance of science in the future, Mr. Miese and the officers encouraged students to participate in science projects.

The Mu Alpha Theta Mathematics Club, a national organization, provided an opportunity for students to further mathematical interests.

To qualify for membership in the club, a student must be a junior or senior, have an academic average of B or higher, and must have completed four semesters of college preparatory mathematics and be enrolled in the fifth semester. Robert Ledger was sponsor.

Sigma Sigma Chi, history club, was formed in 1958 to augment interest in history. This year the club's membership numbered forty students.

Working with Junior and Senior Honor Societies in sponsoring three skating parties was one of the activities of Sigma Sigma Chi, sponsored by Alfred Cocks.

Professor George M. Wallar of Butler University spoke to the club on vocational opportunities in the field of social studies. Programs such as this, planned by the officers, made the monthly meeting interesting.

Relating history incidents were the 1959-60 History Club officers Joanne Fechtmann, vice-president and treasurer; Steve Walton, president; and Marilyn Davis, secretary.

History, Spanish Clubs Spark Interest

Promoting this year's Spanish Club interest were the officers George McLean, treasurer; Ellen Jones, secretary; Bill Southern, president; and Stan Martin, vice-president.

"Si, Si, Senor!" replied one of the members of the Spanish Circle when asked to lead a new song. This club consisted of all the second-year Spanish students. This group met monthly to learn more about the outside interests of the people south of the border.

Bill Southern, president, appointed a different committee each month to prepare the program. Working with Bill were Stan Martin, vice-president; Ellen Jones, secretary; and George McLean, treasurer.

Future Awaits Those Preparing For Business,

Helping business students become leaders in their field was the goal of the Future Business Leaders of America. To be eligible for membership a student must have completed one commerce subject.

Members operated a coat check at home games to raise money for scholarships.

Another big event for the Warren FBLA was the State Convention. Jeannette Kimberline led the assembly as president and Judy Marchick hurriedly wrote minutes as secretary. Miss Lokile Hicks, commerce teacher served as state sponsor.

"My kids are all so smart," commented one 17 year-old teacher, as she left the room of sixth graders. The cadet-teaching program, which permitted qualified seniors to observe elementary and junior high students, and then to teach them, was the main project of the Future Teachers of America. Donald Saylor, sponsor of the club, scheduled classes and aided Warrenites participating in this arrangement.

Discussions on the teaching profession at regular meetings helped members decide if they wanted to make education their life-time work.

Heading the Future Business Leaders of America were Leigh Ann Hettenvan, vice-president; Marilyn Rosenbaum, secretary; Carol Fredericks, president; Connie Minnick, treasurer. These officers headed and worked on field trips, contests, state convention, scrapbook and scholarships during the year.

Officers of the Future Teachers of America were Ron Healey, treasurer; Pat Duclos, vice-president; Nancy Endicott, president; Kay Klein, secretary. These officers assisted Donald Saylor with the problems of cadet teaching.

Teaching, Farming, Homemaking

Leading the Future Farmers Club this year were Stan Binnie, president; Leonard VanLue, acting secretary; Butch Aleksa, treasurer; and Glen Hartman, vice-president. This club was especially organized for Warren boys who were interested in farming as a profession.

The officers of the Future Homemakers of America, Barbara Wilson, treasurer; Donna Whiteside, vice-president; Susie Morgan, secretary; and Pat Craig, president; discuss preparation of a new recipe as one of their activities in promoting better homemaking.

"Pop corn, soft drinks and ice cream," called out members of the Future Farmers of America at all home games this year. Selling refreshments to spectators was the job of the F.F.A. All events, with the aid of Vonn Hayes, sponsor, were designed to help the student in his knowledge and interest in farming, while girls were interested in homemaking.

New recipes and patterns were, therefore, among the familiar topics at the meetings of the Future Homemakers of America.

One of the club projects was helping the Red Cross address envelopes during the Christmas season.

With the help of Mrs. Agnes Jung, club sponsor, the F.H.A. has expanded in number each year.

Hobby Clubs Enjoy Varied Activities

CHESS CLUB — officers were Richard Hiatt, secretary-treasurer; David Bayne, president; David Masters, vice-president.

Leading the RADIO CLUB — were Mike McIntire, secretary; Jack Mathes, treasurer; Alan Earhart, vice-president; Dale Earhart, president.

Reporters, Managers Have Hectic Jobs

One of the most important tasks of producing a yearbook is the annual job of collecting money, selling ads, and taking care of the subscriptions. Without these jobs being fulfilled, we would not be able to have the WIGWAM, with its yearly happenings and events of Warren for '60.

This year's business staff were Rita Parker, subscription manager; David Disbennett, business manager; Pat Perdue, subscription manager; and Janet Sykes, advertising manager.

Fulfilling this year's News Bureau jobs were Carole Hall, Teen Star, Marion County Courier, and Eastern Sun; Pat Craig, Times and JACO TV; and Mardena Moss, serving as both manager and correspondent to the News, Star and the Herald.

"Mrs. Bulter, will you please mail this copy to the Teen Star?" queries Mardena Moss, manager of News Bureau. Digging for the latest news, writing stories, and sending them to various newspapers in the community were among the many duties performed by members Carol Hall and Patty Craig.

Other members of the publications department supervised the finances of the WIGWAM. Janet Sykes, advertising manager, organized the soliciting of ads, scheduled the pictures, and drew up pages for the ad section. David Disbennet, business manager, counted and accounted for all subscription money.

Checking final page layouts is just one of the many jobs accomplished by Linda Fye, editor-in-chief of the Wigwam.

WIGWAM Pictures School Activities

Section editors of the 1959-60 yearbook were Marylou Beese and Linda Howard, faculty; Karen Chrisman, Pat Craig, Carol Hall, seniors; Judy Taylor, Sharon Yoho, Priscilla Dick, underclassmen; Marianne Williams, Marlene Settles, Judy Johnson, sports; Jani Ernsburger, Sandy Martin, activities; Nancy Waterman, Penny McIntosh, organizations.

The WIGWAM, a review of the past year's activities, sports, clubs and fads, required the patience and hard work of 30 staff members. Although most of the preparation was completed during the school year, the actual planning began many months before.

Writing, editing, and proofreading copy, taking and developing pictures, and arranging pages were just a few of the duties of the staff.

Helping with various jobs vital to producing a yearbook were Linda Foltz, Donna Robinson, Connie Minnick, John Abernathy, Kay Cuddy and Elizabeth Davis.

Eight girls in lavender dresses with white gloves, eight boys in white dinner jackets and black slacks comprised the Madrigal Singers for 1959 - 60. Under the direction of Mrs. Peggy Neuen this group represented Warren at several dinners and luncheons at the Marott Hotel, Sheridan-Lincoln Hotel, and the I. U. Medical Center.

The Madrigal also performed for radio and television audiences. On Christmas Eve people waiting for Santa or driving around looking at decorations could hear these singers caroling over the radio.

Eighty-five voices directed by Mrs. Peggy Neuen formed the A Cappella Choir this year. These singers caroled on the Circle and performed at the County Choral Festival. Dressed in navy blue dresses, light blue jackets, and navy blue slacks, the choir also sang for convocations and P.T.A. functions.

Traditionally the choir walks through the halls caroling on the day before Christmas vacation. The sounds of "O Come, All Ye Faithful" and other carols added to the Christmas spirit.

Warren Central's A CAPPELLA CHOIR — members were First Row: S. Takala, J. LeFeber, P. Adams, P. Hill, L. Foltz, S. Martin, D. Marvel, S. Smith, N. Waterman, D. Jones, L. Loman, G. Sherban, P. Composing the Treble Tones this year were Juanita Dickerson, Cheryl Brown, Sharon Uppfalt, Marianne McAdams, Pat Perdue, Ursula Blum, Nancy Bright, Janet McQuinney and Jeannie Bristley. Not pictured: Brenda Miller.

The Treble Tones was a select singing group chosen at the beginning of the year. It was composed of ten girls who performed for service clubs, social clubs, banquets, dinners and school's activities.

The girls' outfits consisted of peach taffeta dresses with dyed-to-match shoes and white gloves.

Mrs. Peggy Neuen was the group director and Bud Vest, junior, served as the accompanist.

"Do, re, mi, fa, so, la, ti, do!" Under the direction of Mrs. Peggy Neuen, the Concert Choir practiced many hours for their performances. The group whose membership was open to the entire student body, specialized in lighter music taken from Broadway productions.

Students in the choir were given the opportunity to advance to the A Cappella Choir if they chose to do so.

Two of the major appearances of the Concert Choir were at the County Choral Festival and the All School Music Festival.

Concert Choir members are Row One: D. Lantz, P. Strong, R. Mathen, M. White, C. Raw, C. Lowery, J. Butler, G. VanHook, S. Harris, R. Legan, G. Meyers, and D. Williams. Row Two: A. Griffith, P. HIGH-STEPPING VARSITY MAJORETTES were Diana Marvel, Sharon Blume, Sue Hunt, Sharon Mann, Kathy Longshore, Carol Linneman, Sandy Stout, and Jeannie Bristley.

Twenty girls work persistently to give variety to Warren Band — the majorettes.

These girls marched at all the home football games during the past grid season. They also presented flags at all home basketball games. For the first time this year the regular majorettes were able to march for the half time show at Southport.

The coming of spring marked the beginning of performances at parades and concerts.

Musicians Practice for Perfection

Orchestra members worked hard every morning during homeroom practicing and learning new arrangements under the direction of Bruce Fowler. Brass and percussion instruments joined with the orchestra to practice.

This musical group was first started in 1925 and in the progressing years it has enlarged many times. The orchestra plans to purchase a new brass drum, which is said to be one of the largest made.

This musical group participated in the Christmas convocation and for the Christmas program.

Looking to the future, Mr. Fowler has plans for an annual spring concert to be presented by the orchestra.

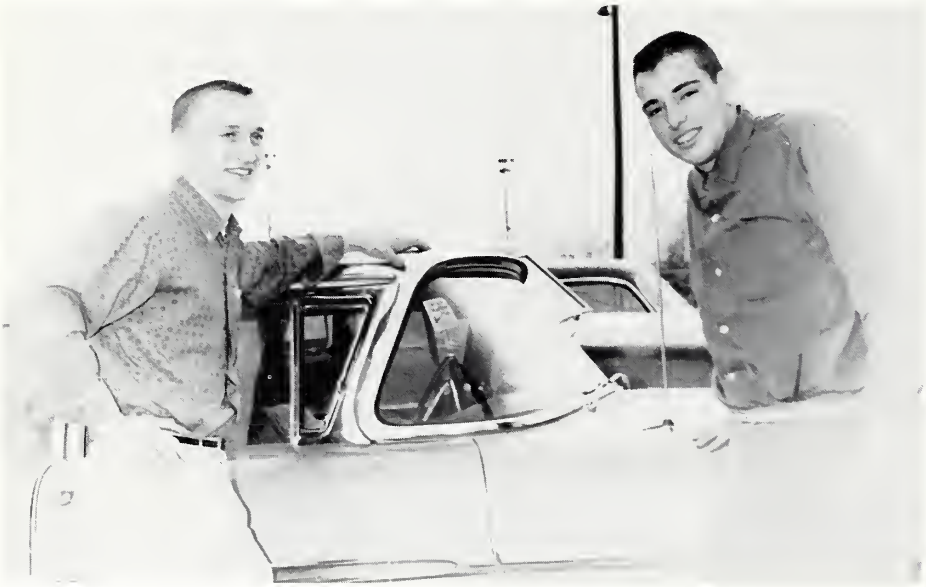
'W' Men, Drivers Create Good Habits



Drivers Club officers for 1959-60 were Steve Horsley, vice-president; Steve Bless, president. The drivers club sponsors two car checks a year, and those people who can't pass the car check are unable to park on the school lot. Students consider it a privilege and fun, too, to be able to drive their own cars to school.

Another prominent school organization is Drivers Club. This club was organized to create better attitudes and driving habits among the students of Warren. Members and the sponsors, Herman Nolte and Alan Miedema, work together to encourage good citizenship in students driving to school, to establish safety among Warrenites driving at all times, and to familiarize all drivers with state regulations and laws. Warrenites are acquainted with laws which compose common sense in driving.

Lettermen's Club is for sophomore, junior, and senior athletes who have earned an inter-scholastic award while enrolled at Warren. Objectives of the club were to promote a wholesome athletic program and to foster better relations between the players and the administration.

Candidates of the fall, winter, and spring queen contests were nominated by the club.

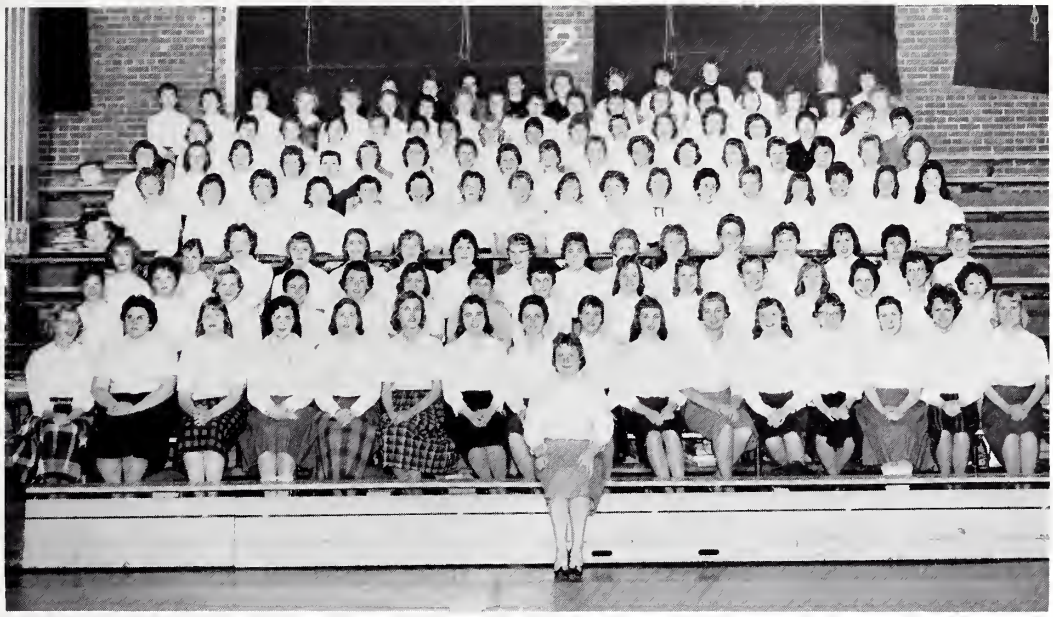
Boys' and Girls' Pep Block Boosts Team



Pausing from their duties of backing the Warriors with familiar yells, chants, and hand jives, while also boasting new cheers, the Pep Block sits in their usual block-formation. Seated in the first row is Claudia Katzenberger, this year's Pep Block president. Ronald Roach was sponsor.

"Now I want to see everybody in his seat at seven thirty sharp," boomed Claudia Katzenberger, president of the girls' Pep Block. This was her usual comment at Friday morning meeting.

The cheering section for 1959-60 was 145 strong voices, the largest block in many years.

Dressed in white blouses and black gloves, the members performed at all home games. Black derbies were added to this attire as students bustled off to the County Tourney.

For the first time at Warren boys' Pep Block co-operated with the cheerleaders and girls' club to increase the volume of Warren's chants and yells.

Additional voices were heard this year from the newly-organized boys' Pep Block. Approximately 40 members sported white shirts, and seniors, wearing senior cords, worked with the girls' Pep Block forming competition yells and also working individually. Larry Smith was the club's sponsor and Charlie Starr, sophomore, helped with some of the yells.

The Key To Sportsmanship - -

Athletics

From the complicated plays and teamwork of football to the individual scoring of golf, good sportsmanship is the goal of each player. Coaches, managers, players, cheerleaders, and spectators each do their part to make Warren's sports program successful.

Members of all classes unite in their effort to support their team and cheer them on to victory. From their very first football game as freshmen to the final gun of the basketball in their senior year, Warrenites are yelling "We're from Warren; no one could be prouder."

In his second year at Warren Central, Coach Jim Wallace took the second big step in developing a football power at Warren. The team improved with each game, and despite an extremely rugged schedule, team spirit was high throughout the season.

The Warriors featured a strong defense but sometimes lacked the necessary offensive punch. The best game played by the Warriors produced a 39 to 6 upset victory over the favored Lawrence Bears. The other victory came at Madison Heights in a 26 to 6 game. Tying Carmel and losing to Southport, Ben Davis, Sacred Heart, Wood, North Central, and Howe rounded out the grid season during which the team posted a 2-6-1 record.

The Warriors claimed one berth on the All County team in left end, Bill Vandercook, while three players from Warren, Steve Bless, Steve Boyce, and Rolland Beckham, made honorable mention.

Victory! The Warren Warriors whoop it up after an exciting upset over the Lawrence Bears, bringing a win to the Warren gridiron.

Unity and Spirit

Tension and excitement can be seen in the faces of these Warriors as they watch their team in action.

They were a vital part of the '59 team as they boosted the morale of their fellow teammates and awaited for the "warm up" call.

To A Winning Season

Warren's varsity cross country team work out for coming meets. Varsity members were J. Perkins, W. Bruns. R. Sissom, C. White, D. Leming, J. Metzger, D. Lawrence.

Warren's cross country team recorded a winning season in '59. Tying with Lawrence for third in the county, Glesing's crew ended the season with a 6-2 record. Two championship teams, including Washington's sectional champs, were among those who were defeated by the Warren harriers.

Dave Lawrence and Wayne Bruns, seniors, and the only returning lettermen, were among the top performers as the billows of dust and drops of rain swept through the stands and assembled cindermen.

Toward the end of the season, all that was left was the rising wind, but the Warriors trudged on to more victories.

Awaiting the starting signal are R. Sissom, J. Metzger, and D. Lawrence, Warren's top three runners.

Three freshmen ran for the harriers. E. Stoner, H. Chaney, and D. Thompson placed fifth in the freshman cross country county meet.

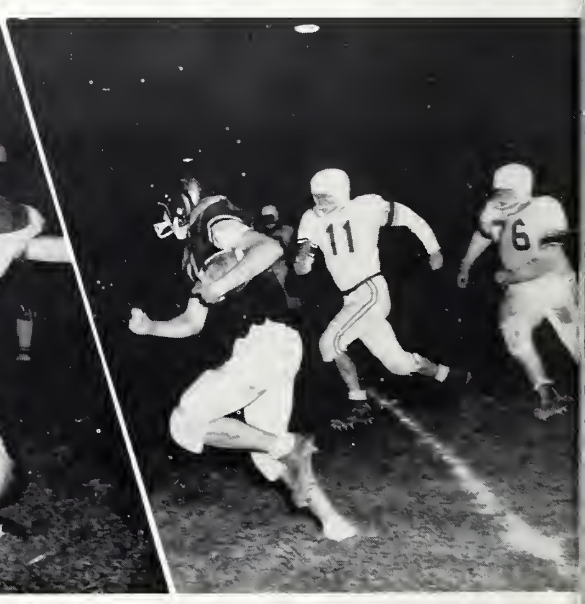
Out of my way, Buster!

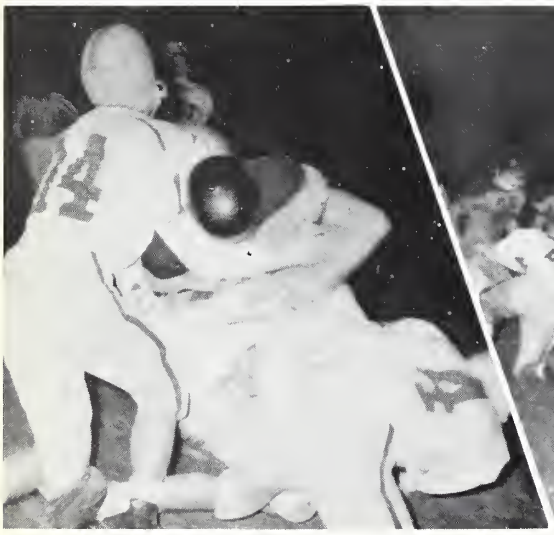
Here I come!

How dare you!

Cha - Cha - Cha -



And away we go . . . .



But coach, I tried . . .

Let's all join in.

Charge!!

Action was the key to Warren's 1959 football season. Under the direction of freshman coaches Alan Miedema and Wendell Roberts, the frosh experienced many bumps and bruises on the gridiron. These freshmen finished the season with a 3-6 record along with experience that will help them in the 1960 football season.

This year the varsity trophy for the most yards gained was awarded to Steve Boyce. This senior, who was a hard man to stop, rushed for 358 yards. For downing 78 opponents Captain Rolland Beckham was awarded the loving cup for the most tackles. Bill Vandercook, another strong man on the gridiron was chosen most valuable lineman.

Although these Warriors received the awards, they realized it takes eleven men and their coaches doing their very best to produce a football team.

Admiring their coveted trophies which were awarded to them at this year's Football Athletic Banquet are R. Beckham, most tackles made; B. Vandercook, most valuable lineman; and S. Boyce, most yards gained. Looking on with them is Vaughn Wood, athletic director.

Seniors and Frosh Push for Victories

Members of the 1959 football team were: Row One: J. Conder, C. Kassen, D. Kirby, J. Bowling, J. Hobson, M. Marvel, D. Marshall, F. Bean, J. Abernathy, S. Crawford, M. Hinderliter, and G. Homecoming Adds

"Queen Sandi"

Sandi Elliott, junior, was crowned by Rolland Beckham, captain of the football team.

Still hoping for a victory, these Warren spectators anxiously wait for their team to return to the field, as the honored girls, nominated by the Letterman's Club, and Queen Sandi reign over the remainder of the Sacred Heart game on September 25.

Color To Gridiron

The bleachers were empty. It was cold. A stiff wind was blowing and darkness was creeping over old Warren's campus. Suddenly, sounds came from the football field. About thirty boys in torn, dirty uniforms exercised in response to the captain's calls. The football team was practicing. No glory was found here, no cheerleaders, no band ringing out with the school song. Tonight was only hard work. These practice sessions resembled the rehearsals for a great show. Winning or losing a ball game depended on the results of these practices.

At last the great climax arrived. The Homecoming game with Sacred Heart was being played. The fall cheerleaders led the crowd in familiar chants and yells. Five girls, nominated by the Lettermen's club, waited anxiously until halftime when one of them would be named Homecoming Queen of 1959.

During the football season, the varsity and reserve cheerleaders worked together in cheering their team to victory. These girls, from right to left, are Sandi Elliott, junior; Penny McIntosh, senior; Judy Johnson, junior; Judy Taylor, senior; Suzy Sicking, sophomore; Jeanette Miller, senior; Linda Loman, sophomore; Lynn Strane, sophomore.

Performing half-time entertainment for the spectators are the band and majorettes led by Edgar Axsom, band director. Brenda Miller, senior, was head majorette.

"Pin," "takedown," and "escape" are terms in the sports-language of wrestling. A grappler can win a match by holding the shoulders of his opponent to the mat. This is called a "pin." He can gain points by throwing his adversary to the mat or getting out of the other matsman's hold. These are called a "takedown" and an "escape." The sport, which was coached by Jim Wallace, attracted rough and rugged individuals from 95 lbs. to 235 lbs.

The varsity squad finished the 1959-60 season by capturing eight victories, one tie and relinquishing two meets.

Wrestling at 145 lbs., Rolland Beckham, senior, captured second place in the county tourney and was the only Warrior to rank first in the sectionals. Jim Leming, junior, and Millard Roberts won second place in the sectionals.

The "Little Warriors" went undefeated this year with 12 victories. They placed second in the county tourney behind Southport.

Cheerleaders, Queen Part of Hysteria

Marlene Settles, senior, in an all-school contest, was elected to reign throughout the homecoming game with Pike. Members of the queen's court were: Linda Foltz, senior; Nikke Robbins, freshman; Nancy Waterman and Marianne Williams, seniors. Candidates were nominated by the Letterman's Club. Debbie Roeder was the flower girl while Bobby Smiley acted as crown bearer.

Working with the varsity cheerleaders and leading yells for the reserve basketball team were the jobs of Sandy Elliott, junior; Lynn Strane and Susie Sicking, sophomores.

"Queen Marlene"

Leading the loyal fans and cheering their teams to victory were the jobs of the 1960 cheerleaders; however, on the night of February 12, the girls joined the team and fans on the sidelines and awaited the crowning of the 1960 Winter Homecoming queen. Marlene Settles received the crown and a kiss from Bill Vandercook, Letterman's Club president.

Leading yells for the varsity basketball team this year were: Jeannette Miller, senior; Judy Johnson, junior; Linda Loman, sophomore; Penny McIntosh and Judy Taylor, seniors.

Intramural Crowns Sought by 28 Teams

"Why, the Odd Rods will run all over their opponents tonight."

"Nope, you're wrong! The Green Dragons will slay 'em and the Roamin' Gladiators will have a hard time catching those Untouchables!"

Conversation of this caliber was often heard in halls during intramural basketball season as players and observers, too, made game predictions.

Participants took special pride in team names. Some titles were proper such as "Gents," while others had special significance: "Reserve Rejects" for example. But who could explain "Blobs" and "Rim Rods?"

Under the supervision of co-sponsors William Glesing and Ronald Roach, 28 intramural teams played ball every Monday night. Freshman and sophomore teams formed the B league, leaving juniors and seniors on A league teams. More than 224 boys participated in this growing extracurricular activity.

Ed Wilson, Gladiators; and Wayne Bruns, Untouchables; try to get the tip on a jump ball. The Untouchables won the game in an overtime, 34 to 33.

Jack Chaney, Steve Goie and Larry Strickler jumped for a rebound while Gene Jaynes watched the action. The Rampants emerged the winner of the intramural B league finals.

Members on the Reserve Rejects team posed for the WIGWAM photographer after winning the championship game in the A league. This was the first time a junior team had captured the title.

Volleyball was one of the many sports offered by G. A. A. for after school activity. Officers for this year were: president, Janet McWhinney, vice-president, Sharon Charters, secretary, Jerry Porter, and treasurer, Judy Stacey.

The Key To Knowledge

Faculty

Helping students prepare for college and the business world has been the goal of the faculty and administration at Old Warren, and it is one of the ideals that will be transferred to the new building.

Members of the School Board of the Metropolitan School District of Warren Township pictured here are left to right, President Robert C. [illegible] Hilkens, George A. Yotter, James L. Sykes and [illegible].

These community leaders plan the policies, general curriculum and activities of the schools [illegible]. They have done much to promote interest in higher academic achievement.

Knowledge, then, is one real key to Old Warren Central.

AUSTIN E. WALKER
Superintendent of Schools

Edward H. Cuddy received his A.B. degree from Franklin College and his M.S. from Indiana. He also attended California State University and has completed course work for Doctor of Education degree from Indiana.

He served three years during World War II in the U. S. Navy Aviation Program training naval aviators.

As general administrator and supervisor of Warren Central High School, he sees that it operates efficiently. Some of his many duties include teacher supervision, curriculum leadership, general administration of business affairs, and planning for the move to the new high school.

* * *

Austin E. Walker, Superintendent of the Metropolitan School District of Warren Township, carries out the regulations and policies of the school board. His important jobs include selection of teachers, preparation of the total budget and supervision of its expenditure, and direction of the construction program of the new Warren.

Mr. Walker was graduated from Central Normal College and he earned his M.S. degree from Indiana. He started his career in education as a Latin teacher and a coach. He then left for the army for six years.

After his return to education, he served as principal for two years before becoming Superintendent of Crown Point Schools.

Mr. Walker has been Warren Township's head administrator for three years.

EDWARD H. CUDDY
Principal, Warren Central

Three Deans' Responsibilities Vary

Obert Piety, a well-known figure around Warren, has been serving as Vice Principal and Dean of Boys for five years. He has helped students to choose the proper subjects and has scheduled classes for all 1,350 Warrenites.

Mr. Piety earned his Bachelor of Arts degree at Indiana State Teachers College at Terre Haute, Indiana. He came to Warren from Thorntown, Indiana in 1955.

Mrs. Maude Siebert, Dean of Girls, shoulders many responsibilities from her office in the main corridor.

Working with club sponsors, Mrs. Siebert as activity chairman schedules all activities for all organizations throughout the year.

She plans all the meals and orders food for Warrenites' lunches under the Federal Lunch Program.

Attendance, counseling, guidance and friendly advice are all a part of the job called "Dean."

Serving his second year as Assistant Dean of Boys, Wendell Roberts helped maintain discipline throughout the school.

Mr. Roberts not only served as head baseball coach, but also assisted in the coaching of football and basketball. Along with his many others duties, he also taught a general business class.

Senior English students in Mrs. McGuire's college preparatory courses participate in class discussion as a part of their semester's literature work.

English and social studies are two fields of study offered by Warren. Three years of basic grammar and literature are required by the State Board of Education. These studies help students to speak English correctly, write different types of letters and become acquainted with American literature.

For pupils who are planning on a college education or want to become more familiar with English literature and composition Senior English is recommended. In this course works of several English writers are read and interpreted.

* * *

Social studies is another field of study that helps students in their everyday lives. A minor in this field is required of Warren pupils including one year of U. S. history and one year of government. World History, sociology, and economics are other classes in this department.

Social Studies Provides New Variety

City, state, national, and international news items are reviewed each Friday by Mr. Ronald Roach's government classes. Warren seniors spend the period discussing current topics: Mayor Boswell's administration, Governor Handley's trip to Japan, the 1960 race for the Presidency, or Khrushchev's part in the summit conference. The weekly news circle aids students in reviewing twentieth century news events, speaking before the class, and leading the discussion.

Classes Struggle for Math Formulas

An algebraic equation momentarily confuses sophomores Mike Miller and Roy Crompton and senior Laura Martin as they work on the blackboard in Room 15.

Anticipating the need for a strong background of mathematics in this fast moving space age, students prepare themselves for a successful future by studying the courses offered at Warren.

General math, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and college algebra are available in the mathematics department. Pupils learn to prepare, not only for a four year college education or a chosen vocation such as law, medicine, or engineering, but for American living in all its phases.

Through finding the solution to "X" in algebra and the size of a geometrical figure in geometry comes a working knowledge of mathematics. Perplexing problems build alert, quick minds.

Without mathematics, this modern machine and electrical age would be impossible. We could not design jet planes, television sets, bridges, or machinery. We could not keep records or manage any business beyond the smallest. Mathematics ranks with reading and writing as one of the cornerstones of modern civilization.

Marjorie Hart, Judy Mann and Barbara Wilson, juniors, begin experiments on hydrogen as Mr. Noe's chemistry classes study gases in their laboratory experiments.

Future Scientists Search Unknowns

When students began to experiment in the chemistry lab, it was not unusual for teachers and pupils to take a long walk outside the building for some fresh air, thus avoiding the unpleasant odors drifting from the chemistry room.

A typical biology student could be heard crying, "I never knew there were so many trees . . . that I can't identify!" Looking at a skeleton, he could be heard wailing, "How could there be all these bones in any one person?"

Courses in practical science, biology, chemistry, and physics were offered in the science department. Students enrolled in these classes prepared for the future in which science is certain to play a vital part.

This modern world is one of the rapid advances in technology. This continuing expansion creates new industries that require more and more scientists. The goal of Warren's science department is to encourage interested students with ability in the field of science.

Bobbie Steinhauer, junior, is busily involved in her bookkeeping and office practice homework. Business education majors have goals ranging from clerk to stenographer.

Students training for the business world will find a well-rounded commercial program at Warren. Two years of shorthand and typing are offered to girls and boys interested in the business profession.

In first year shorthand the pupils learn the shorthand characters and how to take dictation. Second year shorthand helps the pupil to gain speed and learn how to transcribe letters.

Learning the typewriter keyboard is the first task in Typing I. While second year students strive to gain speed and learn all types of business forms. In the fourth semester of typing the typists are given experience with the different kinds of office machines. Speed and accuracy is stressed in these fields and with constant drill and practice they can be accomplished.

The bookkeeping students learned the importance of a debit and credit in business. Many members of this class remember the long hours of adding those long columns that are sometimes only a fraction away from the correct answer.

In addition to teaching these skills, the commerce department helps the students obtain positions after graduation.

MRS. CYNTHIA WHITE

"This translation is correct," says sophomore Kathy Longshore. Mrs. Dodson supervises the day's Spanish assignment at the blackboard.

Milton Fowler, sophomore, reads The Lord's Prayer in Latin. Mr. Leon Thompson, Latin teacher, shows many educational articles on his bulletin board.

Togas, tomales, and berets were familiar sights to the pupils in the Latin, Spanish and French courses.

First year Latin students were officially initiated into the department with their "trip through Hades." Later in the year those who acquired a large number of points purchased slaves at the annual Slave Sale.

On Pan-American Day Spanish classes presented a program honoring our neighbors south of the border. The Spanish Circle, open to second year students, also planned several activities.

French classes grew in number and a second year course was offered. Members of this class used a tape recorder to help master the correct French pronunciation.

These three sections worked together in the spring to present a program for future foreign language pupils.

Pupils Secure Art, Farming Awards

Drawing and painting, graphics and design, commercial art, three dimensional art, and art history, — all are phases of creative art studied in the department.

Student art chairmen appointed to head this year's special projects were Alice Eaton and Barbara Emrich, seniors. Junior, Bill Hall and Charles Starr, sophomore, have been largely responsible for seeing this work completed.

Ruth Parks, senior, designed and supervised the painting of the Christmas mural for the gym stage.

Alice Eaton, senior, puts her memory to work recreating the bright colors of fall. Outside the art room windows, winter has arrived displaying its frosty talents.

A new agriculture room, plus additional references and equipment, encouraged high achievement on the part of many of the 62 boys enrolled in vocational agriculture. Under the capable direction of teacher Vonn Hayes, the Warren boys were recognized for their outstanding success in 4-H and Future Farmer demonstrations. Some Warrenites obtained awards in the county contests, while others were able to gain recognition by participating in state and national competition.

Ronnie Cogswell, Tom Unbanhowar, Howard Windle, Butch Aleksa, Stan Binnie and Leroy Wood practice judging soybeans for the county crops judging contest in their 12th grade vocational agriculture class.

Individual Work Means One's Success

Peace and study prevailed throughout the library as "clockwatchers," "sleepy-heads," and "bookworms" worked to complete their unfinished homework and research themes. Students found the library to be a very valuable place to keep abreast of local, state, national, and international affairs through the sixty magazines and six newspapers available. Some 8,000 books are arranged on the Warren library shelves along with fifteen sets of encyclopedias to aid students in futhering their education.

Keeping the library in order is the duty of Mrs. Mary Alyce Davis, school librarian, with the help of pupils enrolled in library science.

Warrenites catch up on that homework that just didn't get completed last night. In addition to affording study area, the library provides volumes of research and fiction material.

Informing students, their parents and the community of Warren's social and scholastic achievements was the purpose of the publications department. The Warren OWL reported bi-weekly to the student body as each Warrenite received his school paper. The News Bureau submitted a stream of school information to county and city papers.

Warren's WIGWAM, the yearbook, covered the school year as it pictured the Old Warren at its busiest.

Pausing long enough to gather his equipment is John Abernathy, junior, WIGWAM photographer. John was on the scene of many Warren activities recording facts and photos for the yearbook.

Girls Receive Homemaking 'Know How'

MRS. SUZANNE SCHMITZ
Home Ec I, Child Care

What's in the future for the homemaker? Students in the Home Economics Department are learning each day new methods of cooking, sewing, safety, and the art of gracious living. Practice in the social graces begins to develop wholesome attitudes for the girls who learn to solve many of their homemaking problems.

Some of these skills are acquired by preparing and serving meals in family groups. A preview of clothing is given by the study of the construction and purchase of wearing apparel. Certificates for achievements in Red Cross Home Nursing are presented as a worthwhile goal in the child care class.

A challenge arises in the areas of each division of homemaking arts in knowing more about consumer education in the home. The Valentine Tea offers a special event for the department to display its delicious handiwork.

"This is the correct place for the spoon," says Mrs. Ita Richardson, cooking teacher, to Sheryl Bartholomew. Learning to set the table in the correct way is stressed in the cooking class along with learning the methods of food preparation.

Industrial Arts Gives New Training

The hands of John Campbell, junior, tell the story of industrial arts. Intricate lines, delicate projections, and exact measurements require a steady hand.

Industrial arts is a part of general education which prepares students to live in a growing industrial world.

At Warren major industrial areas are: general shop, an orientation to all industries; drafting, the planning and language of industry; metal shop, activities with many kinds of metals; graphic arts shop, study of the printing industry; and the woodworking shop, activities of the wood industry.

In addition to the regular class activities of industrial arts, educational requirements are further met through active participation in our Industrial Arts Club.

Girls' Physical Education

The physical education program at Warren is keyed to meet present day needs based upon the interests and activities of the modern teenage girl and boy.

The high school student needs physical activities. He must have an opportunity to develop social characteristics such as sportsmanship, loyalty, cooperation, and emotional control. He needs an opportunity to develop skills he may adapt to leisure living in adult life. Wise use of spare time can enhance health, increase efficiency, elevate character, and enrich life.

Warren's physical education department attempts to present the finest program possible.

"Good exercise means good health," say these freshman girls as they practice coordination under the supervision of a gym assistant.

Musical Groups Brighten School Life

Throughout 1959-1960 the varied vocal and instrumental groups have been busy with their many activities.

The band, directed by Edward Axom, provided music for football and basketball games, convocations, pep sessions, and parades. Entertainment for the annual Valentine Tea and other formal activities during the year was presented by the orchestra and Bruce Fowler, its director.

The A Cappella Choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Peggy Neuen, consisted of 83 members. This year they performed at the Marott Hotel and the County Choral Festival besides participating in several school programs.

The Madrigal Singers presented their programs for many service clubs in the community while an all-girl singing group, Treble Tones, also performed during the year for community groups.

A high spot for the music department was the presentation of the operetta Brigadoon.

ALAN MIEDEMA
Drivers Training

In order to have safe teen-age drivers, Warren offers Drivers Training, a one semester course. In this class the student learns various traffic rules and reasons for them, how to drive a car properly, and the intricate parts comprising a motor.

In January driving classes received their new 1960 Ford twins. This was the first time both cars had been identical in every way, including their lavender color.

Drivers Training gives each student a chance to learn the fundamentals of driving and to have practical experience behind the wheel.

Visual Aids, Driving Perform Tasks

PERLE FISHER
School Treasurer, Audio-Visual Director

"Mr. Fisher, may we have a tape recorder in Room 205 first period, please?"

"Would you please set up a microphone in the gym homeroom period, Mr. Fisher?"

These typical requests poured into the small visual aids room every day. Perle Fisher, treasurer for Warren Township, also headed the visual aids department for all township schools. With the help of his assistants, Mr. Fisher supplied the several elementary schools with films and recordings.

At the present time Warren is adding to its library of films and recordings. Mr. Fisher is looking forward to his larger office in the New Warren where he will have room for the recent materials teachers request.

Ralph Welling, junior, prepares a film to be shown to the social studies students. The film library, located in the visual-aids rooms, was catalogued and numbered for easy reference.

Barbara Bryson, Elaine Shepherd, Sharon Myers and Priscilla Dick, seniors, prepare the ditto machine for the daily attendance bulletin.

Office, Bookstore Life-Line of School

Gary Day, Susan Traub and Donna Whiteman, freshmen, prepare for another busy school day as they purchase supplies from Mrs. McClarren.

"Get it at the main office." What? Just about any piece of information on any sort of subject! The main office serves not only as a general information center and general office, but also file room and attendance office. In other words, Warren's main office is its nerve center. Material pertaining to all phases has been streaming in and out its doors since January, 1959. Before, business was conducted in what is now the Guidance Office.

Student assistants, chosen for their dependability and aptitude assist in performing the myriad of duties necessary for an efficiently run high school.

Just as the main office moved into new quarters last year, the bookstore found a new home at the beginning of the 1959-60 term. Cramped conditions gave way to larger sales, display and storage areas for Mrs. Erma McClarren, manager.

Now located where food was once prepared for hungry Warrenites, the bookstore still offers its large variety of school supplies and books to students and teachers, but in a more pleasant, less harried atmosphere.

Cafeteria Workers Feed 1,250 Pupils

Each day Warrenites relaxed from the drudge of the day as they ate lunch with their friends. The good times and the food that was consumed will long be remembered.

In the two years since Warren's new cafeteria was opened, it has served as a study hall, meeting place, and dance floor as well as a lunch room. The 18 adults and 18 or more students who worked in the cafeteria not only prepared and served the food and washed the dishes, but also did the thousand and one chores that went with feeding 1,250 Warrenites every day.

For many years Warren has operated under the Federal Lunch Program which was supervised by Mrs. Maude Seibert. This program provided each student with a balanced meal.

Feeding active, hungry teen-agers was far from simple, and much work went into each lunch that left the counter.

Working hard to prepare our lunches are Ruth Jackson, Dottie Jackson, Dorothy Wotring, Jean McIntyre, Martha Lantz, Lucille Hartman, Betty Hechart, Florence Privitte, Dorothy Martin, Margaret Suddarth, Neidra Brammer, Chris Davis, Kathryn Turner, Esther Bryant, Margaret Lemming, and Nellie Reynolds.

Varied Staffs Devote Hours Daily

The administrative staff, working together to coordinate the Warren Township School District, is composed of Mrs. Gladys Rushe, bookkeeper; Mrs. Florence Miller, secretary; Mrs. Lois Loman, bookkeeper; J. F. Metzger, assistant superintendent; John Porter, superintendent of maintenance and grounds; and Lloyd Fleetwood, elementary superintendent.

The nucleus of an efficiently-run school district is the administrative staff. Assistant Superintendent J. F. Metzger is in charge of public relations and transportation. Another important worker is Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds John Porter. Elementary Superintendent Lloyd Fleetwood supervises the grade schools of Warren Township.

Bus drivers also played an important part at Old Warren. It was their duty to insure safe transportation for students going to and from school.

Many people thought when the bus drivers left for home, Warren shut down for the night. The real physical work on the building began then. The maintenance staff, under the supervision of Albert Cazee, put in many hours cleaning windows, polishing floors, closing locker doors, and numerous other tasks that kept Old Warren clean and shining.

Planning the daily maintenance program is Albert Cazee. The maintenance department works day and night to keep our building looking its best.

The Key To Adulthood - - -

Seniors

"WE'RE SENIORS!" It doesn't seem possible." This is what we said when we registered last fall for the final time. Throughout the year we experienced many emotions. We felt the responsibility of being looked up to by underclassmen. We were proud to show off our class colors on Senior Recognition Day, proud of our senior boys as they participated in athletics. We were excited as we planned Senior Week; tired, oh so very tired, as we sold pens. We were nervous as we faced commencement and now we are hopeful as we face the future, confident that we hold the key to adulthood.

The Key

As the long awaited last year arrived, one of the traditions the seniors have had for the past four years has been nominating and electing the "Senior Hall of Fame."

This year seniors elected 12 classmates to the following six categories: most likely to succeed, most popular, best looking, best dressed, best figure and physique and best sense of humor.

Best Figure and Physique
Nancy Waterman and Bill Vandercook

Best Sense of Humor
Jim Coffin and Claudia Katzenberger

Most Likely to Succeed
Sue Preston and Steve Boyce

The Key To Friendships - - -

Underclassmen

The student population is made up of many types of people. We will see the class clowns, the shy quiet types and the big football heroes. The friend we greet around the library, the person we share a crowded locker with, the classmate that sits next to us at convocations, each individual becomes a part of our life.

Warren Central is more than dances, even more than studies. Warren Central is the spirit and friendships of its people.

So he's a sophomore! That frosh year has passed and now tenth graders become a more influential part of everyday Warren life as the building and its traditions are now familiar. Studies are harder, too, and sophomores share the new cafeteria-study hall with the three other classes as everybody "hits the books."

Class of 1963

The [illegible] New Warren High

Progress

In this Wigwam we have been looking backward at the past year and other years, too. We have tried to recall the rooms, people, and activities that will always remind us of Old Warren High. We also realize that we must look ahead to coming years and a New Warren Central.

Progress will be the key to this new high school. Academically, there will be great strides in the form of science and home economic laboratories, a larger visual aids department and spacious classrooms. The well-lighted rooms and larger cafeteria will provide a pleasant atmosphere where new friends can be made.

Progress will be made in the athletic department. A new gymnasium will seat 4,000 people, and new equipment will add to the physical education classes.

In these and other ways, Old Warren will pass on the keys of knowledge, citizenship, activity, sportsmanship and friendship that will open the doors to the New Warren Central High School.
